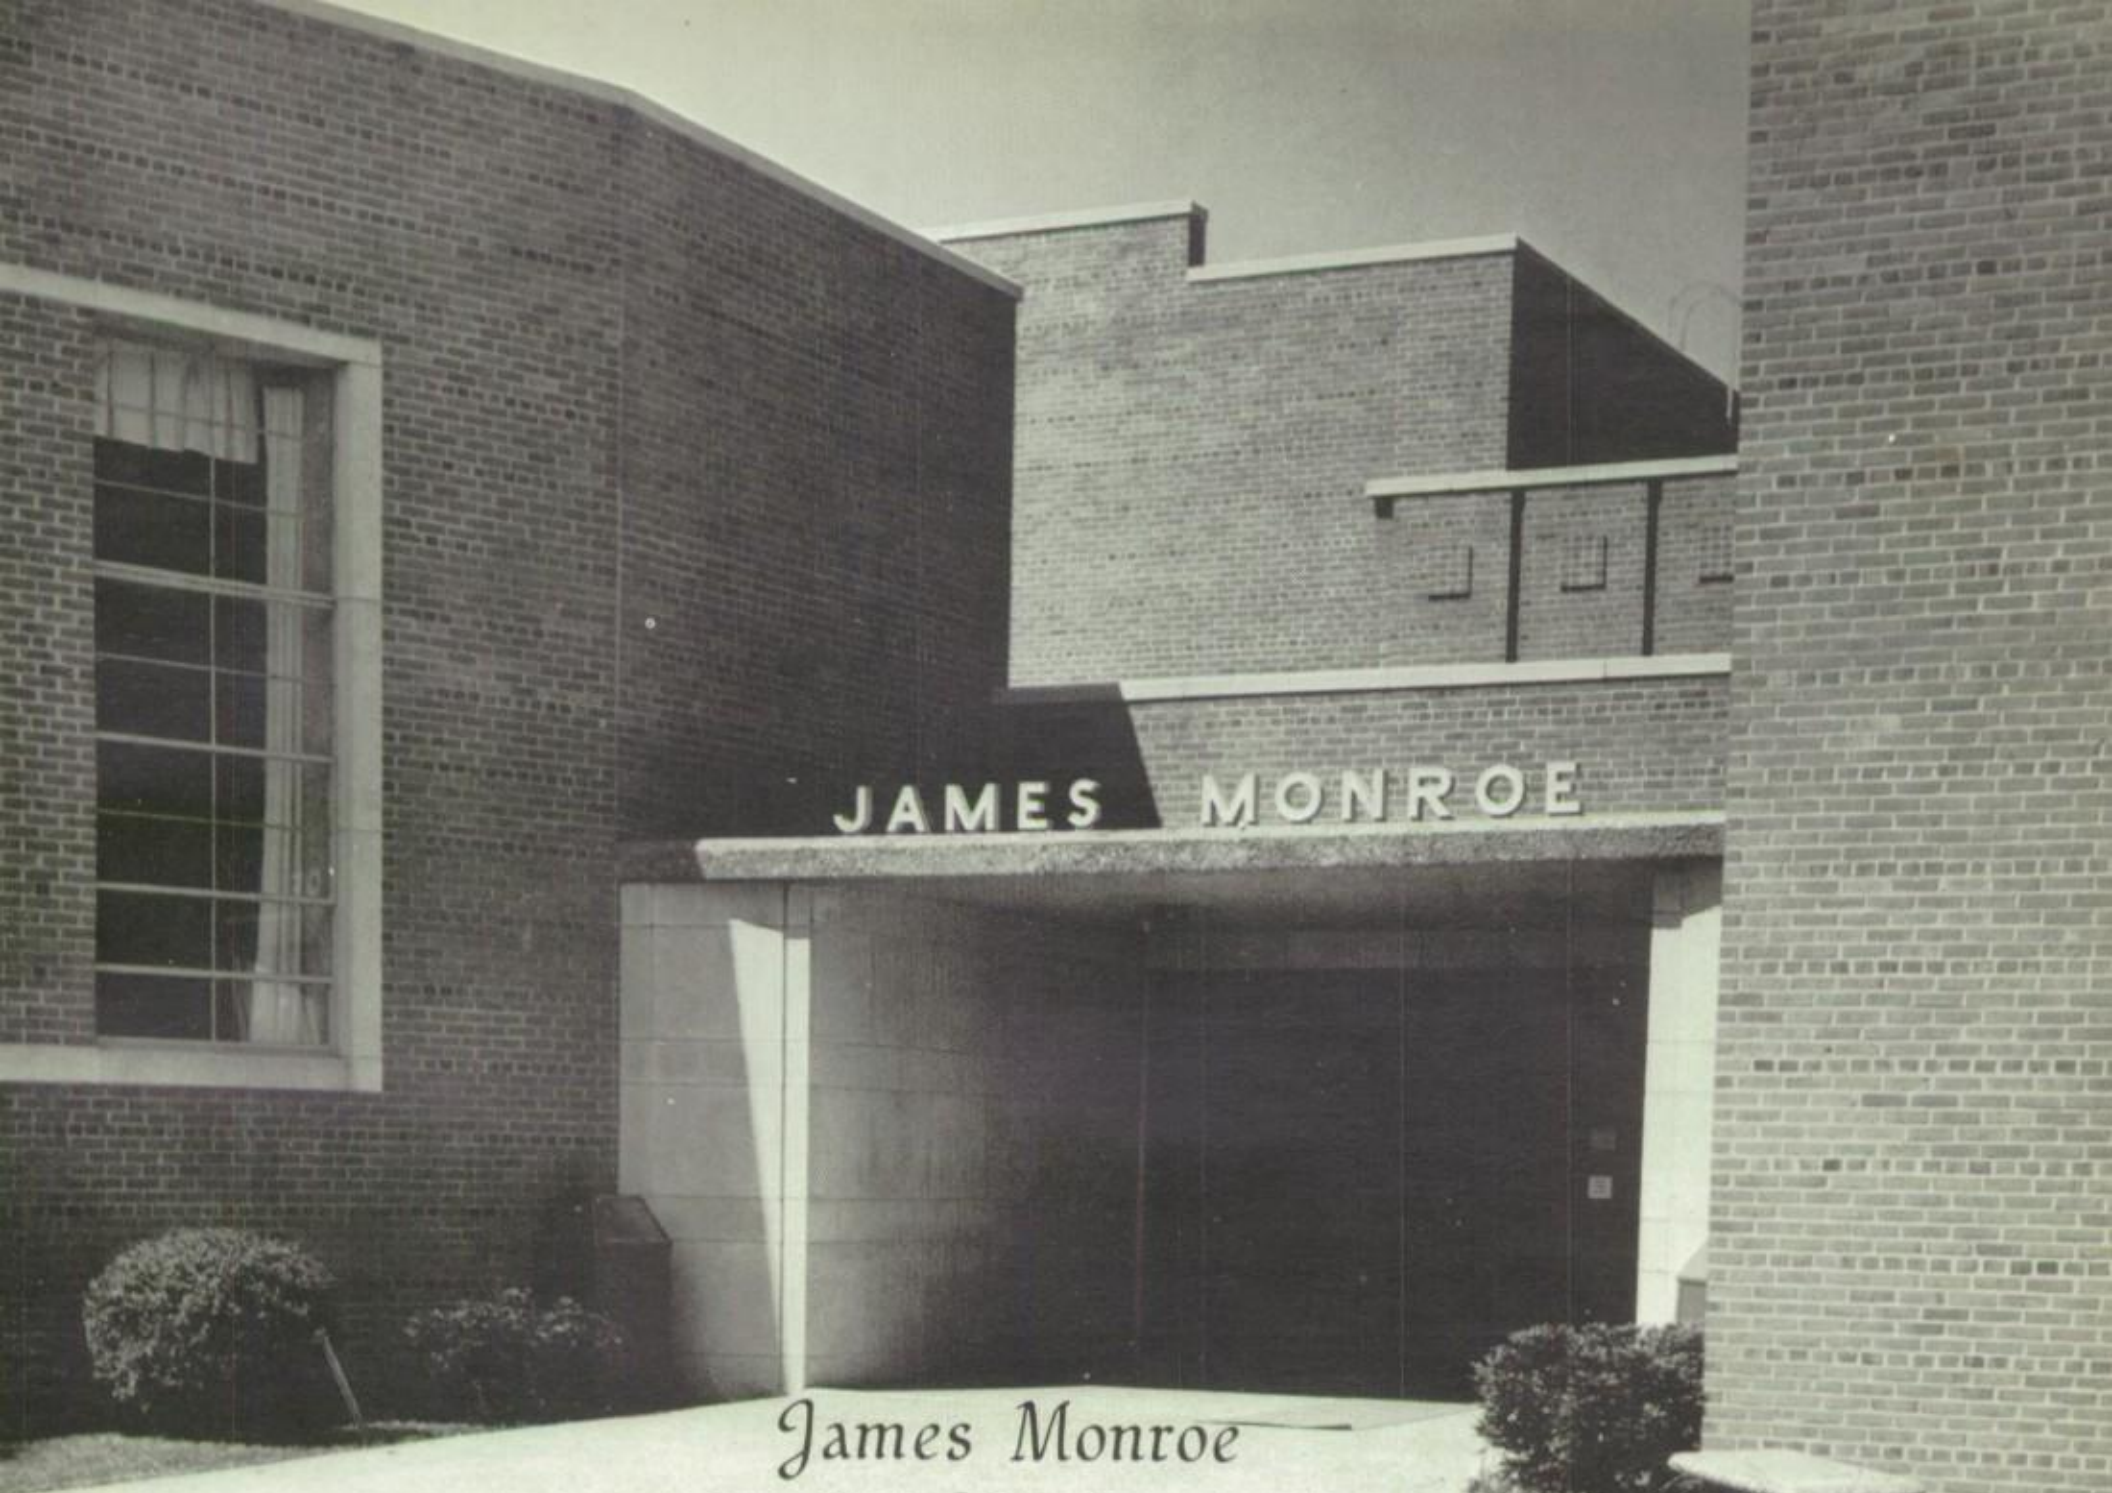
James Monroe Seal

The seal which appears on the cover of the annual is a presidential seal bearing a profile of James Monroe. On the reverse side are the hands of an Indian and a soldier. Also pictured are a peace pipe and a tomahawk symbolizing "Peace and Friendship".

The seals were first minted in silver when George Washington was President. With the incoming of each new President, a new seal was made. Replicas are made in bronze by the United States Mint in Philadelphia, and have been sought after as museum pieces. There is one in the James Monroe Memorial Library at the James Monroe Law Office.



James Monroe
High School Song

On the banks of the Rappahannock,
And the ancient King's Highway;
At the head of navigation
And the tide from the Chesapeake Bay,
Stands a city old and honored
May her shadows ne'er grow less;
And the jewel of that city
Is her High School, J. M. H. S.

(Chorus)
Hail, hail, to James Monroe
Our own beloved High;
Though her pathway may be rugged
We will leave her with a sigh;
In the years before us,
Her name we'll always bless;
For she's our foster mother,
Our beloved J. M. H. S.

Four square to the winds of heaven,
Four square to truth and right;
May she stand four square forever,
'Gainst ignorance and strife.
May she ever bear with honor
And her sons and daughters bless,
The flag that flies above her,
Our beloved J. M. H. S.

Foreword

In the pages of this book we hope you will find the spirit of the past year in the life of James Monroe High School. May it bring back the hours of work and play, laughter and tears we have shared. We hope the MONROE ECHO of 1966 will be a treasured possession of all students and faculty members.

Dedication

Each year the Senior Class chooses a faculty member to whom the Annual is dedicated. This year we are privileged to honor one who has given many hours in service to the students of James Monroe High School. As a token of our appreciation for her academic and extra-curricular contributions, we the Class of 1966 dedicate the MONROE ECHO to Mrs. Meredith F. Cuddy.

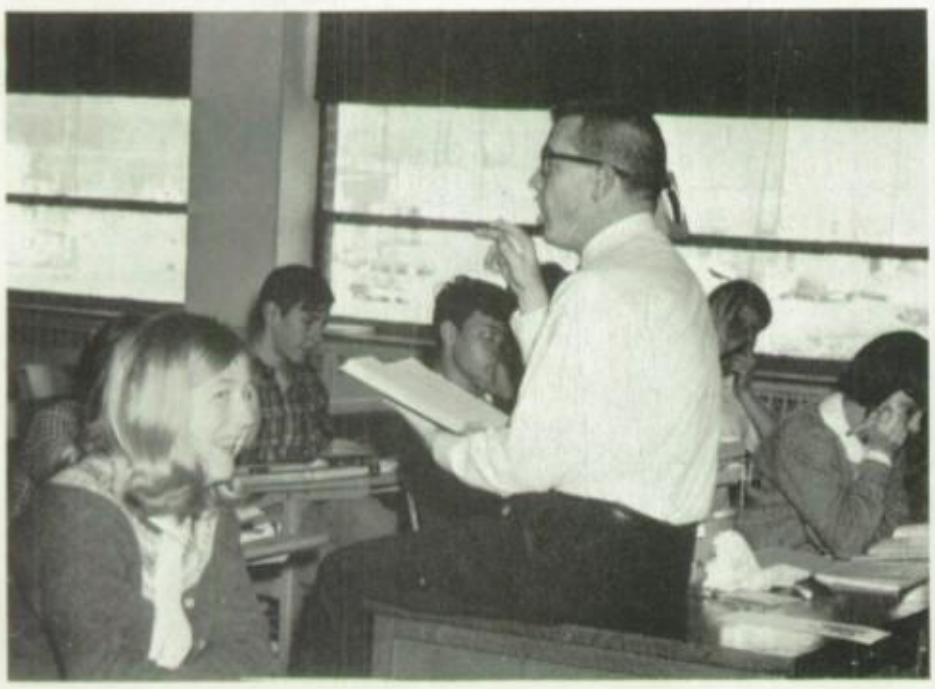
"Work! Work! How about a game of checkers?"

"Now hear this. . ."

A private chat.

Hard at work?



"Forget it!"

"Word problems! Ba! Hum-bug!"

At Work

"Mrs. Hudson, I'm lost."

"No, not that color!"

"That's not quite the way I did it."

"Move these desks over."

"Class, class, please."

"Hello there"

Avec Vigor!!

"Class, turn to page 46."

Curiosity killed the cat.

"Well—That's not quite right. Let's go on to the next question."

Class Poem

Easy Laughter
Impatience
Impulsiveness

Is that all I am to you?

Wait—you say. Wait—til later
When you have known responsibility and grief.
Wait—grow older, and then find love
and friendship.
Not now; you're so young. . .so unaware.

No! Don't tell me I haven't known these.
Don't tell me I've just played here.
Don't smile patiently at eighteen years—they are all my life.
And I have lived them and felt them
all the way.
I am struggling, laughing, seeking,
fighting, and loving—now.
These eighteen years are not a rehearsal—
that ended when I began.
When I struggle, and when I laugh, it is with all the feeling that my young and open soul knows—
Don't tell me to wait.

Class

In 1953 the Class of '66 began its formal education at Maury and Lafayette. After six years of readin', ritin', and rithmetic, we were promoted to the seventh grade and eagerly anticipated being the "big shots" at Maury and changing classes for the first time. Being crafty politicians of the world, we elected Woody Woodward as president of the SCA. It was during this year that the boys led by their fearless leader, Stuart Towsey, discovered an exciting new world-the world of GIRLS-and proved so by writing the girls' names on their tennis shoes.

After a thrilling year of being admired and lauded, we left Maury to the next year's seventh graders and marched forward to conquer James Monroe. Undaunted by the upperclassmen's apparent disrespect, we thoroughly enjoyed our first year of high school. Our class officers were Chip Massey, president, Peggy Scott, secretary, and Linda Canaday, treasurer. One of the highlights of our eighth grade year was a science trip to Washington D. C. Few of us returned empty handed. Besides the usual souvenirs, would you believe that some students became quite interested in two million year old whale fossils and managed to bring a few specimens home for study. Right, Woody? Some felt the need for shoe laces and borrowed them from Captain John Smith at the Wax Museum while others completely wiped out one souvenir shop.

In our freshman year we were led by Martha Moon Beck, president, Betty Carter, vice-president, and Julie Ulman, secretary-treasurer. Our class began the annual freshman bake sale. Also, in English we studied our first novel, Great Expectations. Latin students will fondly remember the arrival of Mr. Mosha - his "throne", his love of fresh, invigorating air (even in the middle of the winter), and his fondess for Joe Amrhein.

The sophomore year was a red letter year for us. For one thing we were invaded by the Dahlgren bus. Also, for the first time, Jayem had a wrestling team coached by Mr. Yungman. Nor will we forget the allegorical significance of the term "albino" as we tried to catch Moby Dick. To assist us in all money-making projects, we elected Stuart Towsey, John Crisp, Martha Moon Beck, and Angie Neri as our class officers.

In our junior year a few adventuresome souls decided to search for "out of the way" places to eat at noon. Some of us who preferred the out of doors went picnicing at St. Clair Brooks Park while others preferred the security of Eddie Macks. Few of us were caught thanks to our secret room, escape alley, and the waiters who served as look-outs for the teachers. We also steered ourselves over such obstacles as college boards. A highlight of the year was the prom "April in Paris", although during the decorating it was hard to determine if more paint was landing on the students or on the decorations. Under the leadership of

History

Ky Coble, John Crisp, Martha Moon Beck, and Stuart Towsey, we sold candy for our money-making project. As juniors we spent an interesting year studying American History under Mrs. Armstrong and Mr. Stafford. We are sure that Mr. Stafford will not forget the "profound discussions" of his seventh period history class. The year 1965 was the year of international travel. Ed Jones was chosen foreign exchange student to Pakistan and Gail Whitaker, John Scott, Speight Overman, and Marge Belsky remained busy during the summer at colleges and universities in all parts of the United States. Betty Carter and Julie Ulman were representatives to Girls' State while Ky Coble, Speight Overman, and Lee Swift enjoyed a week's stay at Boys' State.

By this, our senior year, the great class of '66 had acquired a reputation as being friendly fun-seekers. We have enjoyed exchanging ideas and customs with Mette Habberstad, our foreign exchange student from Norway and hope that someday she will give us a return visit. Queen Bonnie Lopomo and King Ky Coble reigned over Homecoming ceremonies after a 33 to 6 victory over Garfield. "You the Jury" with Cyndy Allen and John Clarke in leading roles and the Variety Show, "A Night of Madness," rank as two of our most enjoyable experiences. The Variety Show was a smash hit with such attractions as John Philipchuk's rockin' band and Noah. R-I-I-I-G-G-H-T? The many hours spent pouring over term papers for English and reports for government caused more than one epidemic of illness in the Senior Class and managed to fill many hours of our spare time.

We are very proud of Marjorie Jones who for the first time in James Monroe history won first place in the State Poetry Forensics Meet. The School Board reported that our building was in need of repair, but a few "sacrificing steadies" seemed to hold the walls up. Our fun-loving class of scholars elected John Crisp as our prestiged president, Woody Woodward as vivacious vice-president, Lee Swift as trusty treasurer, and Martha Moon Beck as assiduous secretary.

The Senior Class wishes to thank the Juniors for their many hours of work on the prom, "Lost Paradise." We would like to express our gratitude to all former teachers for all the help they have given us during these past five years, and especially to Mr. Hebert who has maintained during this year the high standards of James Monroe High School. We thank the Senior Sponsors for the time they have devoted in making our whole senior year successful. We eagerly anticipate tomorrow's trip to the "Big City" when we will embark upon the sidewalks of New York. There is much behind to fill unlimited pages of our memory book, but great things are yet to come.

The year is 1984. Everyone focus your Earth-To-Moon Telescreen. Now let's tune in our civilization on the Moon. As the telescreen focuses we get an excellent view of the interior of the ultra-modern lunar space center. Secretaries Jean Allison, Sheila Kleff, and Jean Warren are bustling around with the latest space data. John Skinner is showing mathematician Paul McKnight and research scientist Pattie Dufour exactly how space data is fed into the IBM machine. Travis Bullock, Claude Brawner, Chuck Pugh, Jane Pope, and Betty Walsh compiled the data. Pattie Agee and Carolyn Denning feed it into the computers. The processed data is then filed by bookkeepers Susan Mills and Jane McGhee. Our interpreter, Tena Poulos, is standing by in case any purple-people-eaters from the crater regions appear.

The telescreen now focuses on a winding country road. Suddenly an armored laundry truck on its way to the Play Boy Club with freshly laundered Bunny suits appears on the scene with Becky Bigoney at the wheel. The truck pulls into the entrance way of the spectacular Bunny Building, designed by Joe Amrhein and built by John Perry. The door is opened by our friendly hostess, Alberta Mudd. The Bunnies: Daphne Turney, Beverly Mills, Dottie Snyder, and Carolyn Pitts greet Becky and run off to put on their costumes. In the right-hand corner of the dining room, we spot lawyers, Martin Cohen, Ed Jones, John Scott, and Dale Labbe seated at a table. They are discussing Charlie Beckham's attempt to gain mariner rights on the Dead Seas of the Moon. Due to scientific discoveries of the moon chemist, Paul Thomason, it has been found that this water is composed of important moonerals. The manager, Wayne Baker, now takes us to the Blue Room of the Club which has been reserved for a business convention. Three secretaries Bonnie Mills, Susan George, and Martha Lucy are taking minutes of the proceedings. Guest speaker from accounting, David Cooper, is eyeing the Bunnies in the next room while he explains the operation of a new tabulator. The tabulator was invented by engineer Robert Wood and his co-worker, electrician Rubin Noel. After the keynote address, businessmen Philip Carter, Larry McMurtry, and Steve Redman get together to discuss their secretaries, Bonnie Lopomo and Bunny Payne who have gotten together to discuss their bosses. Soon the lights dim and the floor-show begins. It is opening night for New Orleans blues singer Bill Catlett, folksinger Marge Belsky, and comedian Cyndy Allen.

The telescreen switches scenes and we now find ourselves in the hospital. Bill Crisp, candidate for moon mayor, is in the nursery kissing moon babies delivered by Lucy Chinn. Following his nursery visit, he walks down the hall greeting nurses Jane Brown, Virginia Thacker, Cynthia Wilson, and Barbara Stuczynski, who are receiving instructions from supervisor Betsy Butzner. He enters the doctor's lounge and finds Dr. Franklin Adams and Dr. Mark Chinn having a friendly medical discussion with nurses Vivian Smith, Shirley Ballad, and Donna Layman. Across the room physical therapist, Julie Ulman, radiology technician, Sue Ellen Lowry, and psychiatrist Karen Loughridge are discussing the possibility that Julie's paralyzed patient might be psychosomatic.

At the same time, John Philipchuk, the other candidate for moon mayor, is chatting with housewives across town, Brenda Brooks, Terry Searle, Betty Burks, Judy DeShazo, Bonnie Clore, Linda Canaday, and Carolyn Borders.

We now see downtown Normoondy Village. The tallest building is an ultra-modern department store managed by George Jones. Inside, busy clerks Loretta Gayle, Sheila Alfred, and Earl Hart wait on customers, while retailers David Herron and William Oliver and buyer Bonnie Hicks talk business with the assistant managers.

Next door we see the offices of The Free Lance Galaxy. Co-editors of this famous newspaper are Donald Bache and Ivan Samuels. Among the members of the staff are the critics John Clarke and Glenda Mabe, journalist Doug Colvin, and photographer Barbara Dillard. At one desk we see Peggy Leopold sketching political cartoons written by Ronnie Long. Beside her sits Marjorie Jones with her latest novel, Return of the Earthling. Grocery store owner, John Simenson, is writing an advertisement for his famed Green Cheese, and auto salesman, Doug McWhirt, is publicizing his Rent-a-Star Car Agency. David May and Marty Moran, owners of the Gasolunar Service Station are also advertising. In the editing room Karen Parcell is sketching models Susan

Prophecy

Thomas and Terry Carr by way of Telestar. They are now living in Paris with Marilyn Gallant and Lucy Goodloe.

Across the street from the newspaper office is the bank. There we see Barbara Spangler depositing with teller Charles Lancaster her money from the sale of her prize-winning cow which jumped over the Moon. Co-presidents of the bank are Nelson Withers and Tommy Grimes. Other employees are Al Loving and Brenda Groves. As we leave, we see millionaire Ross Marshall withdrawing a large sum of money to start a Home for Retired Greyhounds.

Across the corner on Carolunar Street, the teacher's convention held at the Hotel Lunar Baines Johnson is just ending. Among those leaving are Carolyn Faulconer, Nancy White, Anne Croushore, Carole LaMonica, Kathy Highberger, Lee Swift, Mary Anne Crowder, and Margaret Chinn. In the lobby other teachers are congregated: Sharon Clarke, Ann Walsh, Anne Kendall, Donna Smith, Angie Neri, Marie Passagaluppi, Roland Moore and John Garrison. At the desk, manager Bert Limbrick and hotel detective, William Wright, are discussing the wild farewell party teachers Anne Woodbridge and Mary Susan Billingsley held for Sally Tyler who is departing to teach Romantic Languages at Hampden-Sydney College.

At the same moment, half a block away at Crater Athletic Field, the biggest game of the season is about to begin. The Baltimoon Colts are playing the Luna-Lasses, the first female football team. Coaches of the teams are Stewart Heubi for the Colts and Lynda Chilcott for the Lasses. Wayne Brooks, Gary Billingsley, Ky Coble, and Billy Billingsley are on the Colts' team. Mette Habberstad is the captain of the Lasses. In the stands can be seen the most avid fans of the Luna-Lasses, Betty Carter and her five little sons. Before the game begins, sports announcer, Houston Howard, of station W-M-O-O-N is introducing Miss Moon for 1984—Miss Martha Moon Beck. The Moonroe High School Band, directed by Sharon Kube, played the National Anthem, "Carry Me Back To Old Moonland."

We leave the stadium and go now to the outskirts of town to Welfare Camp Meteor. Camp director, Oza Bradshaw, and Peace Corps worker, Betsy MacClarence, come out to show the telescreen their camp. The camp personnel include: dietitian, Annette Schimmel, riding instructor, Anne Jones, social workers, Sharon Keeler, Charlotte Mills, and Madelyn Marlowe, nurse, Linda Higgs and secretary, Lois Carver. The chief counselor is Peggy Scott, and the teacher for the handicapped is Sue McArtor. Kenny Farmer, former beachcomber, is the life guard, and chief handyman is Charles Hume.

The telescreen brings us to our final stop-the lunar launching pad. The rocket ship, The Moonmade Special, we see standing in the distance, was designed and outfitted by Gail Whitaker and her colleagues R. J. Tyler, Sarah Embrey, Tim Gronau, Jerry Smith, Navonia Nelson, and Mike Rankins. Patrolling the area, making sure that no moonling spies enter and that no secrets leak out, are Secret Lunar agents Stuart Towsey, Charles Weimer, and Ricky Weber. Navy intelligence officer, Speight Overman, checks with the chief security agent, Danny Wilkerson, to see that all preparations for the return trip to the earth are ready. This launch is composed of military personel under the command of officers Gary Michalec, and John Crisp. Fastening their seat belts are the remaining military passengers Joe Wharton, Jerry Sullivan, James Lam, and Alan Homan. The hatch closes as pilot Bill Hibbin and stewardess Janis Flippo board. Just prior to the takeoff, Woody Woodward, ambassador to Iceland, appears on the Telestar screen with good wishes for the flight. The countdown begins, a cloud of smoke appears! Blast off! It's a successful launch, and 1984 continues to be a prosperous year for our civilization on the Moon!

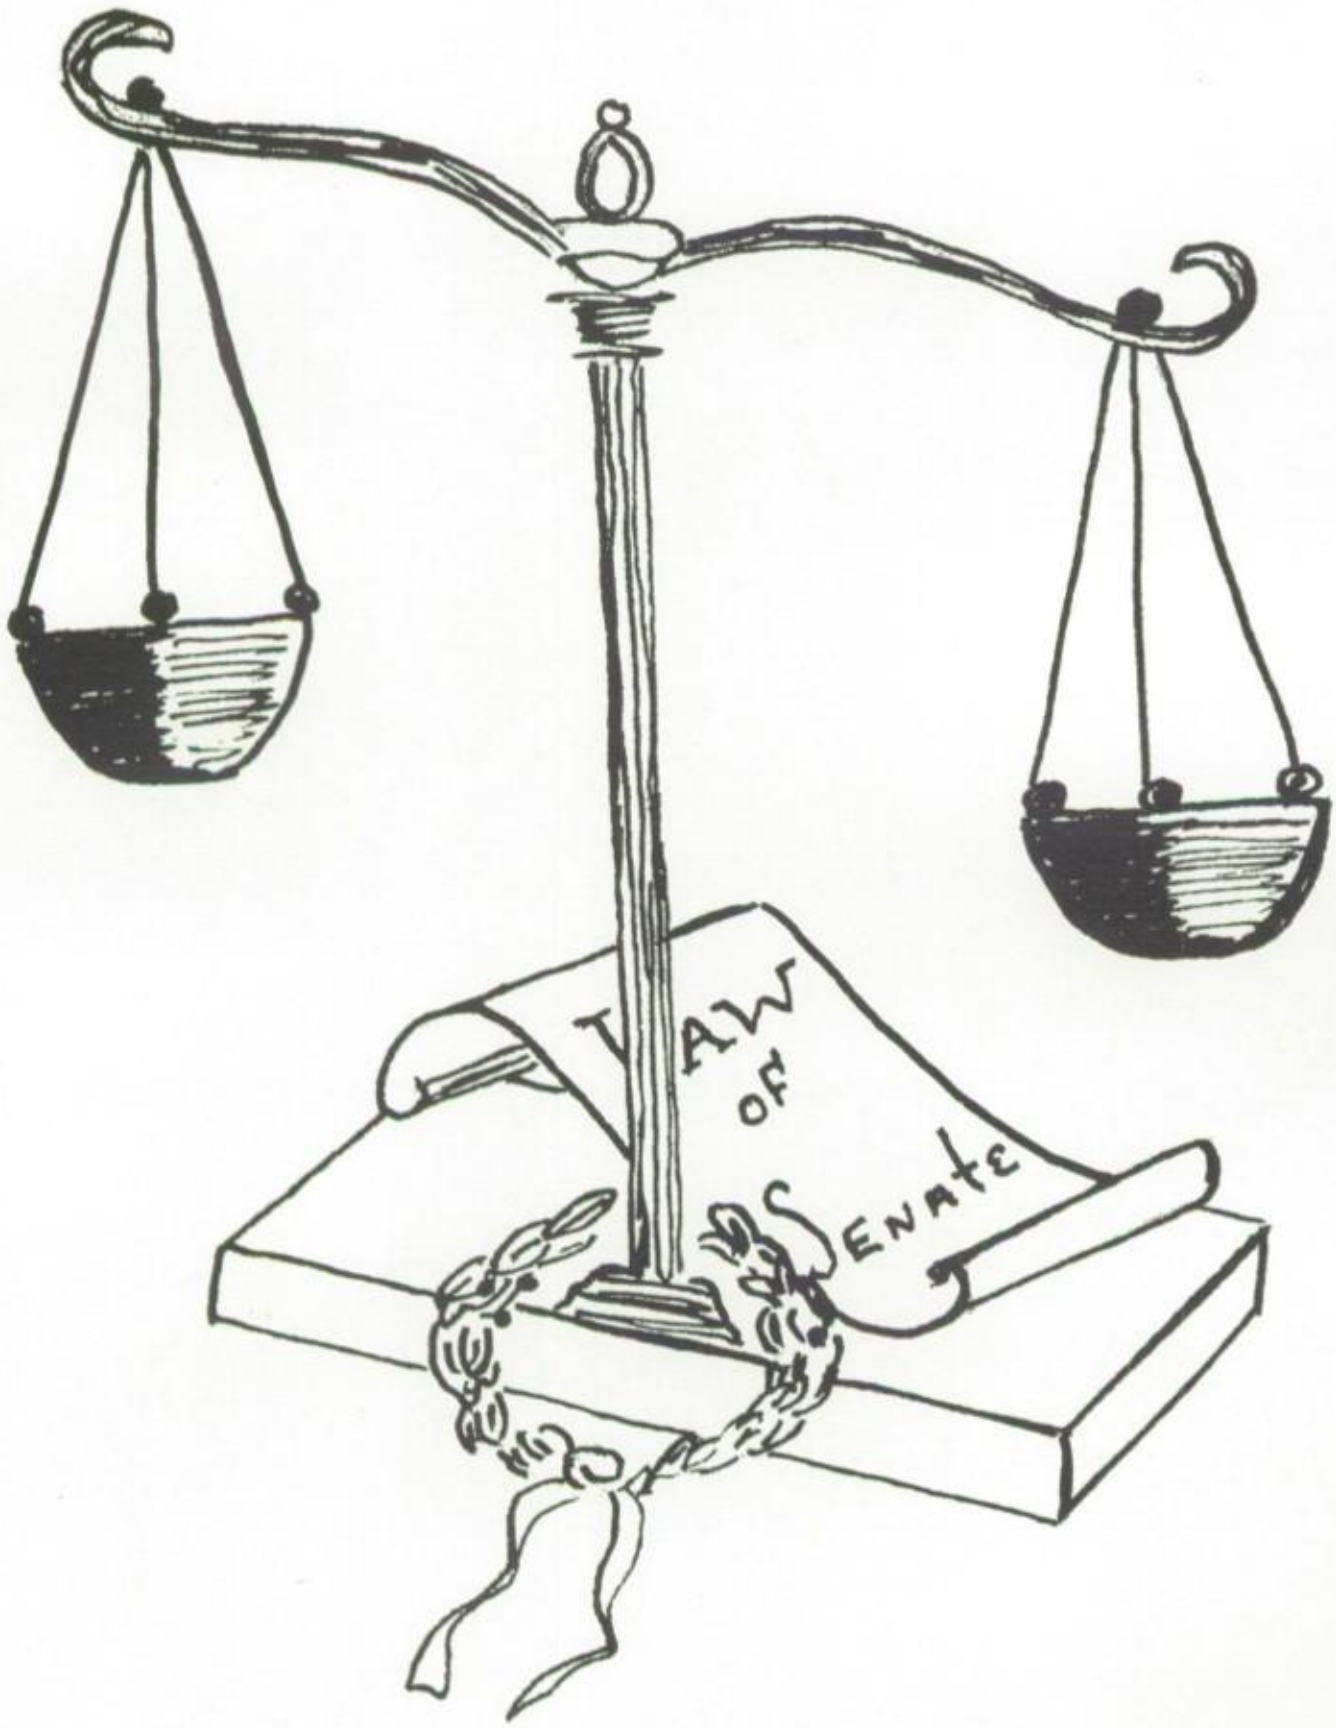
CLUBS



Ed Jones Leads S.C.A. in Successful Year

James Monroe's leaders are found in the SCA. The SCA consists of five officers, a representative from each homeroom, and class and club presidents. The SCA sponsored the annual magazine drive from which the school received part of the money. Money was appropriated for the new furniture in the guidance office. The assembly programs, enjoyed by everyone during the year, were arranged by the SCA. This year the AFS Club was formed as a standing committee of the SCA. Other activities of the SCA were: It acted as host for a Mental Health Symposium, organized the White Christmas Basket Drive, contributed money to UNICEF, and provided for new microphones in the auditorium. Elections were held to provide an equally good SCA next year. Those elected were: John Rose, President; Jeff Chewning, Vice President; Lauren Dabel, Secretary; Mitchell Powell, Treasurer; and Betty Deans, Reporter. The SCA sponsors the foreign exchange student and hopes to have one for session 1966-67.

First row, left to right: ROSE, V. President; CARTER, Secretary; E. JONES, President; EMBREY, Reporter; TOWSEY, Treasurer. Second row: Smoot; McArtor; Crisp; Ulman; Beck; Swift. Third row: Waite; Campbell; Blake; Smith; Johnson; Willis; Lyons; Nugent; M. Jones. Fourth row: Carroll; Hallberg; P. Jones, Ventura; Scott; K. Muse; Poulos; Overman; Jett; P. Muse.

The National Honor Society is an honorary organization consisting of outstanding sophomore, junior, and senior students. Members are selected by the faculty on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and service. Sophomore members must have a 92 average and must maintain a 90 average. All members must have no grades below "S" in attitude and conduct. A highlight of the school year is the assembly held during American Education Week when new members are tapped.

The Key Club is an organization sponsored by the Fredericksburg Kiwanis Club. It is open to those sophomore, junior, and senior boys who are outstanding in their school work and have excellent qualities of leadership. The principal purposes of the Key Club are to promote and develop qualities of leadership among members while providing services to the school and community. This year the club has achieved its purposes through its many activities. Some of them include: selling drinks at track meets, initiating the Mystery Yellow Jacket contest, selling basketball programs, helping with the Kiwanis Talent Show, attending Key Club Conventions, and aiding in many fund raising drives. This year the Key Club collected school supplies to send to needy children in Viet Nam.

Students interested in reading and speaking again enjoyed an active year as members of the Forensics Club. In addition to scheduled school meetings. James Monroe was represented at the Fall Workshop at Stonewall Jackson High School which provided valuable experience prior to the school forensics contest held in March. School contest winners competed in the Battlefield District Forensics Contest held at James Monroe in April. To increase interest in Forensics activities, a Forensics Day was held in the fall in all the English classes. Sponsors were: Mr. Stafford, Poetry Reading; Mr. Seldin, Public Speaking; and Mrs. Gemmill, Prose Reading. Mrs. Armstrong helped the sponsors by obtaining judges for the school and district contests. Mrs. Pappandreau directed the forensics play "I'm a Fool."

Debating skill depends on extemporaneous speaking and instant recall of facts. Many hours of study are necessary before the debating season begins.

This year's subject for debate was "Resolved: That the federal government should adopt a program of compulsory arbitration in labor management dispute of the basic industries."

Ed Jones and Speight Overman, the affirmative team, were undefeated in the district and had won third place in the state with a 4-2 record.

Gail Whitaker and Jim Pates, the negative team, had a 3-3 record in the state contest, as well as being undefeated in the district.

The French Club is designed to teach conversational French. To develop flunecy, meetings are conducted in French. Through speeches, slides, and games, members learn about the culture and entertainment of the natives of France. The major project of the club this year was a French Christmas party. Each member must have a genuine interest and desire to learn the language and to participate in any extra-curricular activities which the club may undertake.

The Purpose of the Future Teachers of America is to prepare those students who are interested in a career in teaching. The members hear guest speakers, see films, and participate in discussions to acquaint them with the responsibilities and duties of a teacher. This year FTA members sponsored an after-school series of coach classes. The annual tea for the Fredericksburg teachers was held in the fall, and the banquet for the club members was given in the spring. To raise money two successful bake sales were held. The year ended with the presentation of pins or charms to the Senior members.

Distributive Education

Distributive Education is a three year vocational course designed for students over fourteen years old who are interested in retailing, wholesaling, and service industries. Prior to this year, the program was made up of students from both James Monroe and Stafford High Schools. Due to Fredericksburg's rising vocational needs, the two schools have established separate programs. This year the D. E. Club participated in all the area and district meetings of D. E. C. The 1965 Homecoming theme was "Some Enchanted Evening." The gym, with murals at either end, was decorated in tones of purple, aqua and blue. The quarter moon of glass that hung from the ceiling contributed to the evening's atmosphere. Crepe paper adorned the bleachers, halls, and doors. A "Welcome Alumni" sign was also displayed.

As the clock struck 8:30, the court was presented, highlighted by the crowning of the king and queen. The court was given the first dance to the theme song, "Some Enchanted Evening." The Satellites provided the music.

"A Lost Paradise" was the theme of this year's Junior-Senior Prom, held on April 30 in the school gymnasium, The Juniors worked hard in planning and decorating under the guidance of Mrs. Armstrong and co-chairmen Florence Smoot and Bernie Rowe.

A mural and a volcano were at one end of the gym. With the aid of dry ice, the effect of an erupting volcano was achieved. At the opposite end of the gym, a mural of straw huts and tropical flowers was painted in a variety of colors. Palm trees, tropical birds, sandy beaches, and flowers decorated the murals on both sides of the gym. The Beach Nuts, a band from Virginia Beach, performed on a stage decorated as a bamboo hut. A painted picture of Buddha hung in one corner of the gym along with various wooden dolls to give a real impression of a Lost Paradise. The prom proved to be a very enjoyable event.

Having dinner at the Village Barn in Greenwich Village.

At 6:00 a.m., Thursday, May 26, one-hundred and thirteen excited seniors and nine chaperons boarded three chartered Trailway buses, and the long journey to New York City began.

On the agenda was an evening at the Village Barn, a supper club in Greenwich Village; a visit to the United Nations Building; and a guided bus tour of the city. Seniors also visited the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Museum of Natural History, the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, and the Bitter End in Greenwich Village. The Broadway Plays Hello Dolly and Skyscraper, as well as performances at Radio City Music Hall, were included. The trip ended with a view of New York City from the roof of Rockefeller Center. At 6:00 a.m., Sunday, May 29, the exhausted seniors and chaperons arrived back at peaceful, sleepy Fredericksburg.

Now what?

Now that you have graduated you must answer the inevitable question—"now what?" For all of you it means the continuation of studies in one way or another, because learning must and will continue throughout your lives.

In the years to come you may have no more report cards or examinations, but everything you do will be judged realistically. Your preparation for every goal will be carefully watched, thoughtfully evaluated.

Your courses have given you the tools for thought and judgment. They will serve you well, whatever the future has in store for you.

Here at American Viscose we owe much of our progress to the adoption of new ideas, new improved methods and fresh approaches brought to us by young people like yourselves who never learned to stop learning.
